Dillon Named to No. 2 Spot in State Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. Douglas Dillon's elevation by President Eisenhower to the No. 2 spot in the State Department was well received with enthusiasm on Capitol Hill today.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant Senate majority leader, said "Mr. Eisenhower could not have made a better choice" when he nominated the former New York investment banker Thursday to replace Christian A. Herter in the second-ranking position.

The senator also predicted speedy approval of administration legislation to enable Dillon to continue to handle the international economic matters. Such matters, including the foreign aid program, have been Dillon's particular field as undersecretary for economic affairs in the No. 3 spot. Dillon moves up to Herter's former position.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court yesterday received an appeal from Jack son Circuit Court decision sentencing Alfred Green to two years in jail for failure to support his minor children.

Judge Andrew G. Ponder imposed the sentence March 12 after overruling Green's motion for a new trial.

Phone Firm Seeks To Sell Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Owners of the Okolona (Clark County) Telephone Exchange yesterday asked Public Service Commission permission to sell the utility to Madison Wilson of Little Rock for $17,000.

Leroy and R. G. Beck, the owners, told the PSC they were in poor health and unable to continue operating the exchange. They said Wilson owned the Washington Telephone Exchange.

The PSC also was asked yesterday to approve incorporation of the Desatur Telephone Exchange. Owners O. D. and O. Schmidt said they needed to incorporate to get a federal loan needed for expansion purposes.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—James M. Shelton of Little Rock yesterday was named president-elect of the Arkansas Public Health Association. The group concluded its 11th annual convention here.

Shelton is an official on the State Board of Health.

Dr. L. B. Jones, director of the Phillips County Health Unit at Helena, was elected to the presidency. Mrs. Vada Russell of the State Health Department was re-elected secretary.

Among new members named to the executive council were Mrs. Marie Branch of Camden and Wallace F. Pettefork of Pine Bluff.

Tax Collections Show Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas tax collections for April were up $1,065,630 from March.

The Revenue Department in its monthly report said total collections for April were $12,330,846. This brought the aggregate total for the 1938-39 fiscal year to date to $108,741,287, an increase of $5,458,580 over collections for a similar period last year.

Asst. Revenue Commissioner E. C. McLees said the monthly increase was the largest reflected to any month this year.

Students Call Boycott Against Affidavit Law

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The two top officers of the University of Arkansas student body today came out against a proposed boycott of classes as a protest against the controversial teacher affidavit law.

They said the proposed Monday boycott was the work of a minority group and that they felt it would be "useless and harmful."

Under the law, teachers, including college instructors, may not be hired unless they swear to organizational affiliations and contributions.

Jim Connaway of Forrest City, president of the Associated Students, and Pat Fleming of Fayetteville, the vice president, issued this statement:

"The movement toward a student walkout from classes Monday has been prompted by a small group without any sanction from the organized student government or responsible student leaders.

"The common feeling has been misrepresented by this group, both to the press and to elements of the student body.

"We hope that the student body will not be swayed by an irrational and irresponsible minority group. We feel that this method of expressing opinion is useless and harmful to the university."

Connaway and Fleming did not identify leaders of what they called the minority movement for the boycott.

Presidents of students groups at the University scheduled for a meeting for late today to consider the suggested walkout.

University President John Tyler Caldwell deplored the strike threat and said classes would be held Monday.

In other developments, the dean of the Law School said a suit would be filed contesting the affidavit measure Act 10 of 1938. Two faculty members said they would refuse to sign affidavits, and more than 700 students signed petitions asking faculty members not to sign and urging that university officials demand a retrial of charges made by segregationist leader Amis Guthridge of Little Rock.

Act 10 requires teachers in tax-supported schools to list on affidavits all the organizations they joined or helped financially in a five-year period.

The student newspaper The Arkansas Traveler, said in an editorial today that ringleaders of the strike movement had placed the student body "in a precarious position."

Attending classes Monday could be construed as approval of Act 10, the paper said, while failure to attend could lead to harmful results.

The editorial appealed for order.

Top Officials Pay Tribute to McClellan

WASHINGTON (SPECIAL) Senator John L. McClellan, Democrat of Arkansas, was honored Thursday night with the American Good Government Society's George Washington award before some 800 top officials of the land.

Both Democrats and Republicans, including some of the highest officials in government, attended the dinner. Some had come from half way across the continent to be here.

Governor Orval Faubus and approximately 75 Arkansians in addition to the Arkansas convention, delegates present from Texas, Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana, and many other states.

Also honored at this time was Admiral Lewis L. Strauss acting secretary of commerce, and former chairman of Atomic Energy Commission.

Senator William Fulbright Rep. and Mrs. Orren Harris, Rep. and Mrs. William Norrell and Rep. and Mrs. Wilbur Mills and other congressmen joined in the applause for McClellan.

Prisoners Seize Officer's Gun, Kidnap Students

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP)—Two prisoners, richly overpowered the two officers who were taking them to the state penitentiary and escaped.

The fugitives kidnaped two high school boys in the youth's automobile. The boys escaped later uninjured after the automobile ran out of gasoline.

The convicts apparently on foot, were being sought throughout this central Arkansas area.

Like the boys, the officers were not injured.

Albert Rainwater, 27, of Mona, and Robert Geary, a 32 year old Indiana man, escaped from Polk County Deputy Sheriff Marvin Furr and Menard Patrolman John "2 miles west of Sheridan.

They could not take the police car because Furr had fled with the ignition key.

The prisoners flagged down an auto carrying Johnny Payne, about 16, and Joe Hicks, 17, students at Poyen High School, and fled with the boys toward Sheridan.

Several hours after the kidnaping, the boys showed up at the sheriff's office in Benton, about 20 miles northwest of Sheridan.

They told officers the car had run out of gas in a rural area about six miles east of Benton and they had escaped from their captors.

The auto was found abandoned on the rural road.

Apparently Rainwater and Geary had fled into a wooded area on foot.

Deputy Furr gave this account of the escape:

"Geary, sentenced to five years at Mona last week on auto theft charges, and Rainwater, sentenced to a seven-year term for burglary, both were handcuffed and placed in the back seat of Deputy Furr's automobile when the officers left Mona this morning.

"The car was bound for Tucker Prison Farm near Pine Bluff.

"Geary was riding in the front seat with Furr, who was armed with a .38-caliber revolver. The patrolman carried no weapon.

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP)—Two prisoners escaped from a deputy sheriff today and kidnaped two high school students in their getaway. State Police reported.

The sheriff's office at nearby Mayview said the prisoners broke away from the deputy while he was taking them to the state penitentiary near Pine Bluff.

Officers said Robert Geary, 32, and Albert Rainwater, 27, both white, overpowered the deputy and took his .32 revolver away from him. They left him unharmed in his automobile on a road near Sheridan.

One of the men was handcuffed but it was not known immediately whether the man was Gary or Rainwater.

State Police later got a report that two high school boys Joe Hicks and Joe Payne, both of Poyen, had been kidnaped by the fugitives and their automobile commandeered.

Apparently the kidnaping occurred as the boys were on their way to school at Poyen, police said.

An all-points search bulletin was issued by State Police. Roadblocks were thrown up.

GOLFER HOLES OUT

ENID, Okla. (AP)—Golfer Elder D. Skelly made a hole in one at the wrong time in the wrong place and the wrong way.

While practicing his golf swing in the front yard, Skelly lost his grip on the club. It flew out of his hands and struck the only moving car in sight — police chaser No. 1 — leaving a neat hole in the windshield.

Mrs. Luce Quits as Ambassador to Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clare Boothe Luce quit today as ambassador to Brazil because of her public row with Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore).

President Eisenhower regretfully announced her decision after an hour's talk with her at the White House.

In a letter to the President, Mrs. Luce said:

"It is no longer possible for me to accomplish the mission which you have entrusted to me."

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerly told a news conference that Eisenhower sought to persuade Mrs. Luce to reconsider her decision to quit.

Mrs. Luce, solemn-faced, stood beside Hagerly as he announced her decision. She refused to make any comment on her decision other than that set out in her letter.

Her letter said the "climate of good will was poisoned by thousands of words of extraordinarily ugly charges against my person, and of distrust of the mission I was to undertake."

She did not mention Sen. Morse by name, but she noted that the American author of these charges is also chairman of a Senate subcommittee which handles Latin American affairs.

Morse tried to block Senate approval of her appointment but was defeated by a 70-11 vote in her favor Tuesday.

A few hours after this Mrs. Luce caused an angry uproar by saying in New York that her troubles began when Morse was "kicked in the head by a horse" in 1931.

Morse called her remark proof that she was not fit for the diplomatic post. He implied she was unstable mentally.

In summing up her decision to step aside, Mrs. Luce told the President in her letter:

"Common sense indicates that the good will and support which the rest of the Senate has given will not be forthcoming from the subcommittee chairman (Morse)."

"A continuing harassment of my mission, with a view to making its own charges stick, is the natural course the chairman would follow. And the sad fact is not that I, but Brazilian-American policy would be the victim."

"It therefore seems indisputable that at this time of grave economic difficulties in Brazil, the best interests of that country, as well as of the United States, will be served by your selection of another plenipotentiary."

"Again, I regret with all my heart that I will not have the opportunity to be of his service to you, to our country and to inter-American relations."

Mrs. Luce declined to say what her future plans are.

In advance of the meeting, a top government official said her answer to this question was "up in the air."

Eisenhower was reported ready to urge her to take on the diplomatic assignment, even though he said a comment she made about Morse was ill-advised. He reportedly signed her formal commission Thursday.

But she had conflicting advice from her husband Henry R. Luce, editor in chief of Time magazine. A few hours after the Senate confirmed her appointment Tuesday, he publicly urged her to quit on the grounds that her Democratic political foes would make it possible for her to carry out her diplomatic task.

The 55-year-old Mrs. Luce, a playwright, author and former Republican congresswoman, has been quietly considering her decision since then.

Her troubles erupted into a full scale row when just after being confirmed, she struck out publicly at Morse, who had unsuccessfully sought to block her appointment.

She said her trouble started after Morse "was kicked in the head by a horse." Morse called her remark proof she was not qualified for the post. He also implied she was unstable mentally to be trusted with an important diplomatic assignment.

Iraq Becomes Hot Spot in the Cold War

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a pleasant, warm, sunny day outside as President Eisenhower answered questions at his news conference Wednesday. The question about Iraq was just one among others.

And the President's answer didn't take long. Yet the question and answer threw across the room a somber shadow, hardly noticeable as the reporters pressed ahead with other questions of their own.

Few in Iraq—and what may happen to it and the Middle East—lies the possibility of one of America's greatest cold war defeats.

Just the day before, Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: Communists are in almost complete control in Iraq.

If they are, then it would seem in a short time they should be able to take over. If they delay, it will be because of these two things:

1. That Moscow, for reasons of its own, will order the takeover delayed.

2. That the United States and its allies can find some way and some policy to prevent it. Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the committee said the situation is not hopeless if such a policy can be found.

But none is in sight now. Two years ago Iraq was linked with the United States through its defense agreement with Iraq, Turkey, Pakistan. That was when Eisenhower asked, and Congress approved, a declaration that the President could use U.S. troops to help any Mideast country against armed aggression from any country controlled by international communism.

One of the weak spots in that policy has always been this: What can the United States do if nativ Communists take over a country from within and without obvious outside aggression?

Last summer when the Iraqi army overthrew the government—which had linked itself with this country—by killing the King, Eisenhower sent American troops into neighboring Lebanon.

Lebanon itself at the time was torn by civil war. Eisenhower said he acted then on the request of the Lebanese President, Camille Chamoun, to guard American lives and protect Lebanon against indirect aggression.

But could Eisenhower use those powers to send American troops into Iraq to prevent a Communist takeover from within? It seems unlikely.

For one thing, Iraq's Premier Abdel Karim Kassam, who led the revolution against the King, has surrounded himself with Communists. If they took over they'd be his boys, not outsiders.

And even if he tried to disown them at the last moment, he might be eliminated too fast to do what the Lebanese President did, ask for American help.

Won't Turn Hospital Over to Judge

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Hill Wheatley, president of the Ochs-Echlin General Hospital board of directors, says the board does not plan "to turn the hospital over" to County Judge H. C. Warren. Warren yesterday notified Wheatley and six board members by letter they were fired effective tomorrow. He said he would appoint a new board soon.

"This action was not unexpected," Wheatley said. "The board will appeal the matter to the Garland Circuit Court."

Warren has feuded with the board of the county-operated hospital since he took office Jan. 1. First he asked all seven members to resign. When they refused, he named a citizens committee to investigate hospital operations. He said he based the discharge notices on the committee's report.

Warren also has filed two lawsuits against the board. One seeks to void a hospital real estate purchase. The other would cancel a hospital laundry contract held by a board member.

ESCAPE FROM THE ATOM—In a secluded hangar at Eagle Mountain National Guard Base in Texas, an unusual aircraft is being constructed. Called "Scat," its purpose is to get key defense people out of crowded cities in event of an atomic attack. Builder, Robertson Aircraft Corp., has divulged few details, but artist's conception above shows how Scat is intended to work. Capable of taking off from the top of a building or even a parking lot, Scat is designed to be completely automatic once its passenger enters. He will have only two controls: a button to lower flaps when landing, and a control stick with limited movement—for psychological reasons. Scat is essentially an escape device, like a parachute, but offers a much better chance than remaining in an atomized city. The project is not a government-sponsored one, though Civil Defense officials are reported to be interested in the idea.

They crossed fresh horse tracks heading north toward Rimrock Divide. Yet, he supposed, was convinced that his quarry had holed up in a canyon, but because Farley Breen had investigated Bent Elbow Canyon yesterday, Furlong felt reasonably certain that his hideout was secure.

For over an hour then he led them through a series of sandy defiles in a course that would approximate the sunless meanderings of a drunken sheepherder slide blind mule. When Furlong finally led his companions to the beach above Bent Elbow Canyon, Clay Dawson greeted: "Col-lee's hot. I been watching you liggers so long I got cross-eyed."

Then he peered at Buchanan Fyfe and asked, "What's he do-going to be dog eat dog and don't spare the ponies."

"Buchanan understands that," Gillum said. "No need for you to be so rank with him, Clay." Turning to Furlong, Mace asked, "What have you got in mind, Jim?"

Furlong had anticipated this question and decided upon his answer during the day's riding. "Clay says he knows where to jump Empire's freight outfits. Suppose you and Clay take a crack at that while Buchanan and I set some haystacks, alfie, and maybe a linecamp for good measure."

"You mean—hold up a freight wagon?" Fyfe asked. "Or maybe burn it," Dawson said, a wicked gleam in his eyes. "Run off the teams, or shoot 'em."

Watching Fyfe now, Furlong understood that the man was facing, for the first time, the realities of what he had called a grand crusade—was visualizing the violence and brutality it involved.

"How do we keep in touch?" Gillum inquired.

"Leave word with Fern, or Ed Overmire, or Frank Pelky, whichever is handiest," Furlong suggested.

Enthusiasm was back in Fyfe's voice now, and presently, when Furlong built a supper fire, the editor offered to do the cooking.

"I've become quite accomplished at it, since my wife passed away," he said, obviously eager to make himself useful.

The supper, frugal though it had been, was well cooked. Even Dawson admitted as much by saying, "I've tasted worse, many's the time."

"They rode out of the canyon at dusk and pairing off, went their separate ways," Furlong held to a course that would eventually bring them to the fenced hay stacks on the flats south and west of the horse camp. Summer's harvest of wild hay had made several big stacks. Its destruction would put Barber in a pinch where he would have to buy more hay or sell off a considerable number of young, light-weight steers. Either way Empire lost.

Fyfe asked, "Do you think we'll have to do any shooting tonight?"

"Not unless we run into someone on the prowl," Furlong said. Remembering his own doubts a couple days ago, Furlong sought for words that would help this man face up to what might lay ahead. But he found none that seemed adequate, and so they rode in silence.

Fyfe buttoned his leather jacket against the cold breeze that came out of the west. He asked, "Where do we go after ward, Jim?"

"To the Rio Felice linecamp. Ought to make it soon after daylight, and have us a good breakfast there. Grain for our ponies, too."

"Won't there be men at the camp?"

"My guess is that Yeto has pulled them all in to hunt me. The breeze had turned into a brisk wind by the time they reached the flats where big stacks of hay formed a mile-long row of moonlight mounds in the distance. Counting them now," Furlong said. "Nine," and fell a living sense of anticipation.

For three days and two nights he had been the hunted. Now he was the hunter. It gave him a good feeling. When they came close to the

Dulles Followed in Father's Footsteps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When John Foster Dulles became secretary of state, he followed in the footsteps of his grandfather and an uncle. He indicated in private conversations that their influence did much to shape his career.

Like many another boy of his generation, he had wanted at the age of about 10 to become a locomotive engineer.

He told about that in a half-joking speech on his 70th birthday, saying that in boyhood, he had dreamed of driving "Locomotive No. 999 of the New York Central Railway that had achieved the speed of 80 miles an hour."

But family tradition was strong and he turned to law and gained a worldwide reputation as an international lawyer. For many years he took an active part in the field of diplomacy as a private citizen.

Bridges' Aid Is Refused a Visa

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese Foreign Office today refused to explain its refusal of a visa for Harry Bridges, right-hand man to attend an Asian dock workers conference in Tokyo.

Louis Goldblatt, secretary-treasurer of Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said in San Francisco that he had been denied a visa.

The left-wing All-Japan Dockworkers Union charged that Soviet and Indonesian delegates as well as Goldblatt, are being barred from the conference opening in Tokyo May 11. They demanded an explanation from the government.

First stocks, Furlong said, "Pull off a ways and keep your eyes open. If you see riders, speak up, and if they're close, shoot at them."

Fyfe nodded without speaking and rode off while Furlong went to work.

There had been no rain for weeks. The well-cured hay was tinder dry. When all nine stacks were transformed into huge bonfires, Furlong said, "Good enough." Then he rode westward at a lope. Later as they circled southward, the eastern sky was aglow with the fire's reflected light.

That beacon, Furlong knew would draw Empire riders from all directions.

Claims Chinese Caught Snow Man

LONDON (AP)—Chinese peasants captured an abominable snow man in Kansu province and even trained him to work. Moscow radio reported today. But then they killed him.

The broadcast gave no further details of this first claim to domesticating the snowman, or yeti, the legendary creature who supposedly walks upright over the high mountains of Asia, but flees at the approach of man. The Russians admitted that they themselves were outwitted by a yeti-hunting expedition to the Pamir Mountains of Central Asia last summer.

and dignity on the part of students, "whatever is done."

President Caldwell said in a statement that Act 10 "is a law of the state of Arkansas. The University is bound by it and is enforcing it."

Dr. Ralph Barnhart, dean of the Law School, said a suit would be filed Monday asking for a restraining order to keep the university from enforcing Act 10. He would not say where the action would be filed.

Act 10 already is under challenge. B. T. Shelton, a Negro school teacher, recently filed suit in U.S. District Court at Little Rock to test the validity of this measure. No hearing date has been set.

The two faculty members who refused to sign affidavits were Max Carr, associate professor of music and Dr. Herndon G. Dowling, associate professor of zoology. The provisions of Act 10 would make it illegal for a university to hire them next year unless affidavits are submitted.

Carr said he opposed the act on religious grounds principally and Dowling said he was against the measure because it constituted "a serious invasion of individual freedom."

The petitions dealing with Guthridge's remarks was drawn up by leaders of the Young Democrats Club, the Young Republic

Club and other student groups. In calling upon faculty members to refuse to sign affidavits, the petitions charged that Act 10 violated the Constitution and insulted the loyalty of teachers.

The petitions asked the university administration to call on Guthridge for a retraction of remarks he made Wednesday. Guthridge's attorney for the Capital Citizens Council at Little Rock, asserted that 98 per cent of Arkansas' teachers were loyal citizens but were restrained from voicing their personal opinions "by the national and state left-wing socialist organizations which control their positions and destinies."

At Little Rock, Guthridge could not be reached for comment immediately.

DOROTHY DIX

Harried Homemaker Needs a Good Organization Man

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is getting disgusted with me because I'm such a disorganized housekeeper. I'm quick enough at other things but terribly slow at housework. I'm 19, my husband is 22 and in his last year of college. We have one boy 13 months old and are expecting another child this summer. I am artificially inclined very capable with my hands, make my own clothes and am often complimented on my cooking. My I.Q. is high so there's no reason why I can't be more efficient as a housewife. My husband says he wants to be proud of his home, but he's tired of "coming home to the same old mess." —FLOP

Dear Girl: Flop you are not. Any youngster of 19 who has accomplished as much as you have is entitled to one limitation, especially when it is so easily corrected. Get every superfluous thing out of the house so your work will be simplified. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet "Better Home Management," which gives a household schedule and shows how to cut chores. Point out to your thoughtless husband the many things you do in which he can take pride and ask his help in organization. Fifteen minutes, or a half hour, a day from him might be all you need to get started on an organized day. Cheer up. Not everyone can be a perfect housekeeper nor can most people manage complete competence in every household art. You're doing fine to be good at sewing, cooking and baby-raising. Hubby is a bit irresponsible.

Dear Dorothy Dix: What can I do about a neighbor who comes over every morning and follows me around so I can't get my cleaning done or get to the stores? I don't want to offend her because we attend the same church and have many mutual friends. —DAISY B.

Dear Daisy: Hand her a broom! Tell her you have a big housecleaning job and need help. Keep her busy and she'll soon find another parking space.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm a widow of 35 and have been dating a widower the same age. He was out of town at Enslor and I have been told he dated a married woman. Should I stop seeing him or pay no attention to the talk? —PEGGEN

Dear Peggen: You have no strings on the man so he's privileged to play where he wishes. Pay no attention to gossip anyhow. Continue the friendship until you have a good reason to stop.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—The bodies of a man and his schoolteacher daughter were found Wednesday night in their apartment.

Police said Thomas E. Stafford, 72, and his daughter, Ruth, 40, had recently died last Monday. Both had histories of heart trouble.

Police theorized Miss Stafford collapsed and her father was stricken while trying to help her. The bodies were discovered by

The Negotiations headed out of Nombre de Dios well before noon for a jungle road connecting with the main highway, the government reported.

The road emerges onto the main highway about 30 miles from Panama City. The government spokesman said he expects to be there for several hours.

"We are optimistic about reaching a settlement within a few days," said a spokesman for the inter-American team of diplomats trying to end the threat to Panamanian President Ernesto de la Guardia's government.

Vega said he was responding to direct surrender appeals from Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, his brother Raul, commander of the Cuban armed forces, and the Organization of American States.

Vega and three others of his party were flown to the U.S. controlled Canal Zone Thursday to talk with the peace mission sent from Washington by the 21 nation OAS.

An OAS spokesman refused to divulge details on the all night conference held at the U.S. Albrook Air Force Base.

De la Guardia had demanded unconditional surrender of the invaders, who he charged were hired by Panamanian government opponents of his regime. He did promise to spare their lives.

Col. Bolivar Villarino, chief of Panama's National Guard, had countermanded orders to attack the invading expedition holed up in the small town of Nombre de Dios, 20 miles from the northern end of the canal.

"I think everything is going to be settled," he told newsmen.

CHICAGO (AP)—Automobile accidents killed more than 8,000 persons in the nation in the first three months this year, an increase of 5 per cent over the first quarter of 1958. The fatalities in March were 9 per cent higher than in 1958.

The National Safety Council said March was the third straight month the death toll on the highways was higher than the same months of almost unbroken decreases.

Fatalities for the first three months totaled 8,080 compared with 7,690 in the corresponding period last year. The March death toll was 2,700, compared with 2,500 in March 1958.

The council attributed the upward trend to complacency.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Construction worker Bill Bell, 36, lost his balance and fell from a fifth-floor girder, but dropped only a few feet. He grasped a rope used to haul up air-conditioning equipment and swung into a fourth-floor window.

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—A lot of people are reading for "Bobby," the judge told Bobby Woods, one of boxing's dolefulists at 21.

Woods, blind in one eye and lame from brain damage suffered in the ring, got a break from Superior Judge Lewis A. Drucker Wednesday. The judge sentenced him to 90 days in the county road camp and three years probation on a robbery charge. He could have gotten a 10-year term for attempting a liquor store robbery.

Last March 11, Woods lured into a store and demanded money. He pulled out a gun and arrested moments later on the street. During his brief career, Woods met such top-ranking prizefighters as Willie Pep, Sandy Saddler and Jimmy Carter.

Pierce Finally Getting Breaks Against Yanks

By ED WILKS
AP Sports Writer

It's been a long, frustrating fight, but maybe things finally are beginning to break Billy Pierce's way in his running battle with the New York Yankees.

The Chicago White Sox's stubby southpaw has the upper hand on all but two of the other seven American League clubs. One is Detroit the club he broke in with back in 1948. He's 16-17 against the Tigers. The other is New York (20-30).

He's been faring a bit better against the champs of late, however, winning four of his last five decisions against them. And he made it two in a row the hard way Thursday night, defeating both Whitey Ford and Ryne Duren — for a 4-3 victory that left the Sox all alone in second place, a game shy of idle Cleveland.

The defeat hammered home by Al Smith's two-out, bases-loaded single, plunged the Yankees below .500 once again and put them sixth. Washington slipped ahead to fifth with a 9-1 triumph at Detroit. Kansas City tied Baltimore for third by beating the Orioles 4-3 on Harry Simpson's ninth-inning home run.

In the National League, Warren Spahn's six-hit pitching and Hank Aaron's home run gave first place Milwaukee a 1-0 victory over St. Louis. Los Angeles stayed second with a 6-4 success at Philadelphia. The Chicago Cubs beat Cincinnati 5-2.

Pierce, 32, gave up nine hits, but allowed only one run after Bill Skowron's two-run double in the second. The third Yankee run tied it in the seventh when Yogi Berra doubled for his first extra-base hit of the year. A sacrifice and a wild pitch brought him across, but Pierce then took charge for a 3-1 record.

Simpson, hitless in five previous trips this year, walloped his homer, leading off the ninth against reliever Billy Loos (1-1). Simpson was hitting for Ned Garver, who won his third in a row after an opening defeat.

Bill Fischer, a balding, 28-year-old right-hander who once worked for the White Sox and Tigers, put Detroit away with a six-hitter. Now 2-0, he blanked the Bengals on three singles after giving up the only earned run, hits allowed in 28 innings. He scored on Eddie Yost's fourth-inning homer in his first meeting with his old mates.

Paul Foytack (9-3) lost it, giving up eight hits, one Norm Zaichner's two-run homer. He was chased in a five-run fifth-inning burst by the Nats, who finished with 17 hits.

Little League Tryouts Set Next Week

Weather permitting, Little League tryouts will be held at K-Park on Monday and Tuesday, May 4 and 5, beginning immediately after school. All boys who have last names beginning with A through N will report for tryouts on Monday. Those with initials O through Z will report on Tuesday.

All boys in this area will be permitted to try out. To be eligible a candidate must be at least 8 years old before Aug. 1, 1959 and must not reach his 13th birthday before Aug. 1. Boys younger than 8 and boys who are not used for a Little League team through the tryout auction will be eligible for the Director's League.

All candidates should bring proof of age with them in the tryouts. No one except boys that are trying out on that particular day will be allowed on the field.

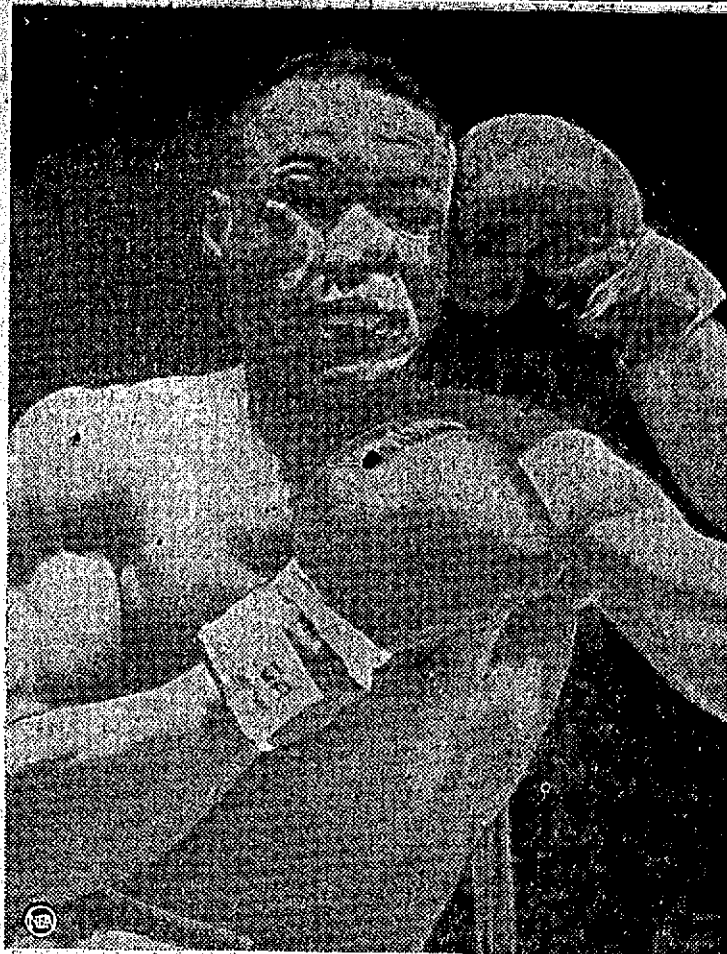

Little League tryouts go off on schedule. Boys League tryouts will be held on Wednesday afternoon. All managers will be contacted as to when the player auction will be held.

Eight Lost Night

Los Angeles — A freight train 194 cars long, mostly empty, derailed on the San Joaquin Hills, Los Angeles, on Tuesday night. The train, owned by the Southern Railway, was carrying 10,000 tons of lumber. It derailed on a curve, and the front of the train was thrown off the tracks. Italian Liner Aids Burning Vessel

PERTH, Australia (AP) — The Italian liner Australia reached the fire-ravaged Norwegian tanker Farmand in the Indian Ocean today and put aboard a doctor to treat eight injured crewmen. Eight other sailors were killed in the engine room explosion Wednesday aboard the 11,000-ton vessel, 280 miles northwest of Fremantle, 120 miles from Perth.

LET'S FACE IT—When Sig Worthy ran into a belt like this, his chances against Anthony Madigan in a New York Golden Gloves bout began to slip away. He lost the 175-pound class decision.

SOMETHING'S FISHY—Sue Stypon's pet cat seemed a bit stiff about touching this 51-pound channel bass pulled from waters at Hatteras Inlet, N.C. The cat likes fish all right, but this one is big enough to frighten most folks.

Spahn Gets Aid From Aaron in 45th Shutout

By ED WILKS
AP Sports Writer

Warren (The Wonder) Spahn did it again. Already well established as one of baseball's all-time great left-handed pitchers, he added his 45th victory and 45th shutout Thursday night, getting all the help he needed from Hank Aaron's home run for a 1-0 victory over St. Louis.

The victory retained Milwaukee's slim (.045) percentage point lead over Los Angeles in the National League race.

The Dodgers, with Old Guard Duke Snider's two-run inside-the-park homer capping a four-run seventh inning, won 6-4 at Philadelphia. San Francisco, ranked out in Pittsburgh, regained third place as the Chicago Cubs' Bob Anderson and Bill Henry quieted Cincinnati's bats for a 3-2 victory on Ernie Banks' 10th-inning homer. In the American League, the Chicago White Sox beat the New York Yankees 4-3 in 11 innings, on Al Smith's two-out single. Kansas City tied Baltimore for third by beating the Orioles 4-3. Washington moved past the Yankees into fifth by whipping Detroit 9-1.

Spahn, second in victories only to the White Sox's Early Wynn (25) among active pitchers, and topped by none now in business in shutouts, gained a 3-2 record and his second whitewash of the season with a six-hitter. He didn't walk a man and struck out four. Alex Kellner (1-1) lost it.

Snider's homer came off reliever Jack Meyer after Wally Moon's two-run double had tied it against loser Ray Semproch (2-1), who had given up only three hit until the seventh.

Johnny Klippstein (3-1) was the winner with 2-13 innings of one-hit relief for Sandy Koufax. Banks and rookie George Altman took care of the Cubs scoring Altman doubled and came home on Banks' single in the first inning off Reds' starter Bob Purkey, who also gave up Altman's second major league homer (both in two days) in the third. Banks' homer, his fifth, came off losing reliever Bob Mabe (1-1). Anderson lasted until the ninth. Then Henry (2-0) came on and struck out Vada Pinson with two on.

Fire Breaks Out in Sorority House

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Five of undetermined origin broke out yesterday on the top floor of the three-story Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house here Wednesday afternoon.

The blaze was quickly extinguished with minor damage from flames but water damage to furnishings and clothing of sorority members was extensive.

No one was hurt. Most of the residents were attending classes at the university of Arkansas when the blaze was discovered by a neighbor who saw smoke coming from the upper windows.

Mrs. Laura Jennings, the house mother, was unable to give a damage estimate.

CLOCK WATCHER—Rep. Randall S. Harmon (D-Ind.), who hit the headlines with news that he was renting his front porch to the government for $1,200 a year, shows a miniature time clock he uses in Washington. A clock-punching factory worker for 40 years before elected, Harmon stamps the arrival of mail to determine how long it takes his staff to answer it. He also stamps visitors in and out.
